

CU Giving Back

At Cobalt, we love recognizing the many ways our employees give back to the communities we serve. Our CU Giving Back feature this month highlights mortgage employee, Ramona, and her work with the Morning Star Baptist Church Food Market.

The Morning Star Baptist Church Food Market provides food for those in need in the community. Ramona was introduced to the volunteer work more than two years ago initially as a mother-daughter activity. Although it's hard work at the Food Market, Ramona views it as fun, and most of all fulfilling, because it gives back to the community and those that need help.

Ramona also enjoys working with like-minded individuals who focus on a common goal of giving back. During Covid, as an example, there were challenges in how the volunteers could continue their outreach and keep everyone safe. They put their heads together and created a drive-thru market which allowed clients to continue to receive the much needed food items in a safe way.

Ramona's dedication to the Food Market is just a part of who she is. She was taught at a young age to give back and has valued that throughout her life. It keeps her humble and grateful for all that she has. Ramona is proud to be involved with something that is so important in the community.
